INTRODUCTION

Community Engagement Collective (CEC) is a community-based nonprofit organization serving Cincinnati communities. The mission of CEC is to foster community engagement through community-engaged events and research. Since 2017, CEC has facilitated eight events that served 390 members in various communities. The success of these initiatives was due to the relationships built with funders and community members. CEC strives to implement programming that directly addresses needs ranging from inclusion to access to resources within communities. CEC values community voice at the center of programming and recognizes the need to address gaps through innovation.

Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) communities lack exclusive resources for mental and behavioral health needs. Mental and behavioral health needs have increased during the pandemic (Interact for Health 2021), and social distancing can increase stress and anxiety (CDC, 2021). For those in need of mental health treatment and seek BIPOC providers, no resource included providers that self-identify as BIPOC in Cincinnati.

Community Engagement Collective chose to address this community need by launching the first BIPOC Mental and Behavioral Health Directory within Cincinnati. The directory launch is the foundation for creating a strategy for having a consistent resource for communities to address this gap. All providers in the directory completed a survey to share the information included in each profile. In addition, each provider self-identified as BIPOC and provided direct mental and behavioral health services. The motivation behind this work stems from recognizing that there is a need for connecting BIPOC people with BIPOC providers.

As this is the first directory of this kind locally, learning will come from this. We welcome your feedback and future collaboration.

INTERACT FOR HEALTH

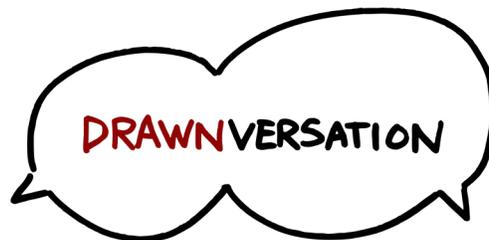

Interact for Health is improving the health of all people in our region. We serve as a catalyst by promoting health equity through grants, education, research, policy and engagement. To amplify the impact of our work, Interact for Health focuses on three strategic priorities: reducing tobacco use, addressing the opioid epidemic and ensuring that children have access to health care through school-based health centers. We are an independent foundation that serves 20 counties in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Central Clinic Behavioral Health (the Clinic) was established in 1923 as the first mental health nonprofit organization in the State of Ohio and one of the only community clinics serving both children and adults. Central Psychiatric Clinic, its original name, received national attention because it provided community-based mental health services for children – a unique approach for treating patients at this time. Today, the organization continues to respond to the Greater Cincinnati community’s needs by providing expert mental health and addiction services.

Today, there are 11 locations serving a very diverse population. Mental illness knows no boundaries – we serve all ethnicities, individuals, children, and families. We pride ourselves on our inclusionary ethos and accept each person for who they are. Our unique business model – we serve as a training center for social work, counseling and psychology students from local universities, as well as psychiatric residents from the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Cincinnati’s College of Medicine – produces results.

Rachael E. Dubose

M.S.Ed., LPCC-S, LCSW

Rachael E. DuBose, M.S.Ed., LPCC-S began her journey in the mental health field in 2010 as a community psychiatric supportive treatment provider and has been a licensed mental health counselor in the state of Ohio since 2012. She graduated with a Bachelor's degree in International and Development Studies from The Ohio State University in 2006 and from the University of Dayton in 2012 with a Master of Science in Education in Counselor Education. Rachael was inspired to create Be the Light Clinical Supervision and Consulting when her friend, Tiara, passed away from acute myeloid leukemia in November 2014. Tiara's memorial service eulogist asked the congregation what they planned to do with the light Tiara gave to everyone she encountered, because she herself, was a light. Be the Light's mission is to fight the stigma of mental illness, especially in historically excluded communities, through advocacy, empowerment, and education, while encouraging every person to, "Find YOUR light, BE the light, and Turn your light UP!"

Dr. Karen Edwards

PhD

Clients who are open to an overarching paradigm of spirituality/energy concepts have proven to benefit the most from CognoSpiritual Psychotherapy which I developed to address clinical issues such as: anxiety, depression, grief, trauma and other psychological/emotional issues associated with living and working in this world. A fundamental assumption of the paradigm is that "God" is spirit/energy in All Things, people, situations (omniscient, omnipresent, omnipotent energy), and is not limited to man-made divisions of faith, practice and power. Other clinical modalities practiced are: Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Psychodynamic & Transpersonal Psychotherapy.

My clinical work is informed by three traditional Psychology specialties: Social, Organization and Clinical Psychology, as well as the study of Theology.

The climate of our country has caused an increased number of people feeling overwhelmed, stressed, depressed, anxious and feelings of uncertainty. Battling those feelings can make you feel exhausted, irritable, and even want to give up. Instead of giving in to the very thing that is weighing you down, choose to focus on yourself and reestablish happiness.

How can I help? Glad you asked. Finding a therapist that is a good fit for you, can be overwhelming. Let me settle your worries! I am a unique and creative professional that focus on building therapeutic relationships, providing support and guidance. I specialize in substance abuse, LGBTQIA, trauma, depression, anxiety, self esteem and codependency.

Talk with someone who is professional, understanding and nonjudgmental. If you are ready to make that commitment to a happier life, lets chat to make it happen for you.

I work with clients who are managing a variety of psychological, emotional, mental health, family, relationship and spiritual challenges and struggles, providing assistance in learning how to best manage those struggles. I enjoy working with individuals, couples and families. In my role as a pastor, I also seek to provide faith-based therapy, helping clients understand that, "You can be saved AND have a therapist!" In addition, I am certified in Cognitive Processing Therapy for the treatment of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder.

I have over 20 years of social work and therapy experience in a variety of settings. I use a person-centered approach to therapy as well as Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, principles of Motivational Interviewing and Dialectical Behavior Therapy. In addition, I can implement biblical principles for those who are interested in faith-based counseling.

I would love the opportunity to work with you, so you can get back to living your best life! I want to instill hope and reignite the belief that your best days are ahead of you! Give me a call and let's get started!

I have been a psychotherapist for more than 20 years. I provide a nurturing environment where we can safely explore difficult issues. I have a highly interactive approach and believe that the best results come from a strong therapeutic relationship.

Many of the people I work with are the “walking wounded” – regular folks feeling that they are not dealing well with the stresses of everyday life. Other people I work with have a history of chronic mental health issues, such as depression, anxiety, and bipolar disorder.

Trained in Gestalt Therapy, I believe that we best know ourselves through our relationships with others. I help my clients increase to their awareness about the choices they make and to take better care of themselves.

DIGNITY – RESPECT – HOPE. I provide a safe, confidential, and judgment-free space for my clients to feel at ease as they share their story. I listen without judgment and provide clients with specific actions to assist them in their recovery process as they work toward their goals. I focus on helping the client to identify thinking patterns, boundary issues, and core beliefs that may be causing them problems in their life. We work together to identify client strengths and coping skills that work best for the client as they progress toward healing.

My ideal client is someone who may believe that therapy is not for them and is skeptical about the benefits that therapy can bring to their life. This client is someone who has an idea that something in their life is not coming together. This client wants to understand and identify the underlying issues that may be holding them back from reaching their goals in life. This client may be experiencing sadness, anger, anxiety, or depression and may not understand why. This client is someone who has experienced childhood trauma, has kept it bottled up inside, and wants to be free of the shame and guilt.

Nina E. Lewis

Ph.D, MSW, LISW-S, LICDC-CS, CTS

Nina Lewis joins the agency after many years of leadership in behavioral health care. She will lead the agency's behavioral health transition to Medicaid managed care for foster children, with a focus on multi-system partnerships, community-based programs and in-home services that strengthen the agency's behavioral health offerings.

In addition to her behavioral health work, Lewis will consult with providers about culturally-informed best practices.

Lewis previously directed provider relations for Hamilton Choices, an organization specialized in managed care for youth with severe emotional and mental health needs. She also served as a deputy director at the Hamilton County Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services Board and, for the past eight years, chaired the Union Institute and University's Undergraduate Social Work Program.

"Nina has a great and diverse background, and she can help us move forward on many fronts," said Moira Weir,

First things FIRST...let me say that I absolutely LOVE what I do because I get to be a small part of the journey for so many amazing individuals and families through my work. Mental Health counseling is both challenging and rewarding, and YOU will get out of it what YOU choose to put into it. That being said, every session is a fantastically unique experience, so if you are looking for cookie cutter services I'm not the one for you. My training has confirmed that the best way to help is to be a helper. I bring expertise and knowledge on content, and a comfy and engaging environment; but YOU bring the superpower that is YOU!

We will talk about the quirky and queasy aspects of life. We will explore how you see yourself and what you want out of this world. I will champion and challenge you throughout the course of our work. You will not be the same, but that's what you came for!

Family Access to Integrated Recovery (FAIR) is a program developed from a collaborative effort between the Hamilton County Mental Health and Recovery Services Board (HCMHR SB), the Children's Services division of Hamilton County Job and Family Services (HCJFS), Central Clinic and the Addiction Services Council. FAIR is responsible for the assessment, referral for services, and care management of the behavioral health needs of children and family members who are involved with Children's Services.

FAIR provides an entry to mental health and/or alcohol and drug services, and also monitors the service to ensure the child welfare goals of safety, permanence, and well-being are incorporated into treatment.

Shawn Scott

LPC, CCTP

It all began with a question: How may I use my traits and gifts of being reflective, intuitive, creative and harmonious with my desire for inner wealth and healing to serve the course of human growth and development. The question itself yielded a series of breadcrumbs which illuminated my path and lead to a defining moment which has placed me in the helping profession.

Now, as a counselor certified in the areas of trauma and grief, it is my belief and professional experience that grief, loss, and trauma are interconnected. They can often be the foundation of depression, anxiety and a myriad of other issues. I have assisted individuals in exploring the root of their pain while mindfully providing them with the tools necessary to ground them amid revealing their most intimate details. Often, throughout my clinical experience, I have heard, "pain is inevitable, suffering is optional." It is a phrase I have passed on to others as I have attended to their pain. Whether through individual counseling or a group setting, many have been empowered by knowing it is within their capacity to choose the depth and manner which they process their pain. It is often with that

Carole Stokes-Brewer

PhD; LPPC;
LICDC-S; LISW-S; LPPC-S

It's a familiar story. Things always end up in the same disappointing way. You know there are better days ahead. You even know what to do to get there, but you just can't get past stuck.

Struggles are unavoidable. The relationship that offers no hope, traumatic memories, a loss, or the persistent thoughts of growing up in a dysfunctional environment that's like a knot that can't be untied are of concern.

That was the beginning of my obsession. I looked for ways to move past stuck. Through research, readings and listening to others' stories, I would find ways to share how to unravel the twists that undermine hopes. This has been my mission for many years. Maya Angelou said, "My mission in life is not merely to survive, but to thrive; and to do so with some passion, some compassion, some humor, and some style." My name is Shauna Wallace. I am certified by the state of Ohio as a Licensed Independent Social Worker and Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor III and in the state of Illinois and Indiana as a Licensed Social Work. I am the Founder/CEO of 3E Consulting and Training Solutions L.L.C. I have also met criteria and is recognized by International Association of Trauma Professionals as a Certified Clinical Trauma Professional. I am an approved mediator for Hamilton County courts and an approved Parent Coordinator for all of Ohio as well as a Peer Support Specialist Supervisor. I have experience working with individuals of all backgrounds and professions. I received a Masters of Arts in Social Work with emphasis on mental health from University of Cincinnati and a Bachelors of Art in Human and Community Services from Queens University of Charlotte. I have over 10 years of experience working in the social service arena from adoption to school based services and providing various trainings. My passion is to help others achieve their potential in life either by direct care or indirectly by training the professionals.

I hope to help and aim to conquer as you navigate your way through your journey with 3E Consulting & Training Solutions, L.L.C engaging, educating and empowering you, so that you can move forward positively and confidently into the next phase of life.
